The Insider

Fall 2026

the premier proprietary wagering platform for all Thanksgiving and Turkey Bowl activities

Inside this issue:

A New Bundy	2
Go Rockets!	2
N&D Integrity Concerns	3

Cousins By Bill Nicolls

In the spirit of the annual showing of White Christmas on Saturday evening, I've composed new lyrics to create a new "theme song" for our clan. Find a karaoke version on YouTube of "Sisters" from the film and sing along. The "two different places" line refers to Hubbard, OH and Colorado.

Cousins, cousins.

There were never such devoted cousins.

Getting together every year.

Reminiscing over Cokes and beer.

Caring, sharing.

Stories of the past and how we're faring.

Never talk of politics, we all steer clear. We're here to have some boisterous cheer.

All kinds of weather

We stick together

The same in the snow or sun

Two different places

Adding new faces

We eat and we game as one. Uh-huh.

Eating, binging

Watching "White Christmas" without cringing.

It's the best Christmas film they all proclaim.

Bob and I watch a football game.

Lord help continue

The bond that unites this whole retinue.

And Lord help the Silvers to beat the pulp out of the Youngs.

Meet Titus Caleb Bundy! by Marty Bundy

He was born on Tuesday, October 20, 2026 at 21 inches and 8 lbs 12 oz. He's such an angel and the sweetest addition to their family of 4! Josh and Hannah assure you Titus and Shepherd are already in training for the Young Bucks!

Young Bucks a year or two away from being game ready

Annamarie Mack is currently enrolled in the chemical engineering program at UT

Meet the New Lady Rocket by Bill Nicolls

Annamarie Mack is currently enrolled in the chemical engineering program at UT and has become a standout cheerleader on the sidelines at Rocket football games. The team has blasted off to an impressive start, due in part, to the tremendous enthusiasm she displays on each play.

Perhaps she will bring that same energy to this years' Turkey Bowl and spur the Silvers to victory. Go Silver Bucks! Rah! Rah! Rah!

Don't mess with the Ref!

Integrity Concerns Swirl Amid Launch of Nicolls & Dimes
By Dee C. Washington

In what some industry analysts called a somewhat suspicious and unhinged press conference, the N&D big brass announced the launch of the Nicolls & Dimes betting platform and proclaimed that market integrity will be its absolute highest priority. According to an official statement, N&D will operate under the oversight of the Nicolls Football League (NFL), and these (self-) regulators repeatedly assured all prospective bettors that the new platform features ironclad anti-fraud protections.

In his statement, the NFL's new High Commissioner of Unquestionable Integrity, "Big Bet" Bill Nicolls, promised that Nicolls & Dimes guarantees a completely scandal-free environment: "This will keep with the tradition of squeaky clean management of all previous Nicolls Family competitions, such as the Nic-Olympics. The Silver Bucks franchise has a pristine legacy of fair play, having never once cheated by calling requested numbers in Bingo, colluding during 99, or using a two-headed quarter to win the coin flip. These are all unsubstantiated allegations. FAKE NEWS." Reporters noted that no one asked about his prior record of cheating or his conflict of interest in playing for the Silver Bucks, and keen observers also noted his well-documented fondness for federally indicted sports betting fraudster, Emmanual Clase of the Guardians.

Bettors beware.

"Nicolls & Dimes guarantees a completely scandal-free environment"

